

I am against any proposal the FCC would implement that could interfere with Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.

The telemarketers are so bad that my friend would have 25 to 30 calls a day on his answering machine. When he finally got on the No Call List his calls dropped from around 25 to 30 calls a day to 4 or 5, which were actually calls for him, not telemarketers. AMAZING!!

Having telemarketers call your home is just as bad as if they were harassing you at your door. In my opinion, most telemarketers are pushy people who won't take no for an answer and are only silenced by hanging up on them. Individuals pay for their phone service and shouldn't have to pay for an unpublished number just to get away from telemarketers.

I am in favor of the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law protection!
